Symptoms.—High fever, bounding pulse, swelling of the joints, with great tenoemess and severe pain, especially if the patient attempts to move; and on moving after resting in one position, lameness, stiffness, and severe pain.

Rheumatism is a blood disease, and must be so treated. There is only one preparation of which it can be said that no instance of a fai ure to cure Rheumatism or any blood disorder has ever been recorded; and that preparation is furnished, not by science, but by Nature — a harmless vegetable compound of herbs, roots, and barks, called

Kicka 200 Acian Sagwa

If you are rheumatic, and do not try this Nature's blessing to the human race, you are responsible for what you suffer. Here is a person who had faith. FREEMAN STRATION, East Fairfield, Yt., declares:

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION. Powder Factory at St. Petersburg

Blown Up. Nine Workmen in the Building Blown to Pieces

St. Petberburg, April 5. A terrible explosion occurred last night at the Stute factory for the manufacture of smokeless powder, where in some unknown manner live fons of gamcotton ignited. The shock of the explosion was tremendous. The whole city was shaken and houses swayed on their foundations as though from the effects of an earthquake. The building in which the guncotton had been blown into splinters. Nine workman in the building when the explosion occurred and every one of them were blown to pieces, the limbs of some being found two hundred and fifty yards away from the building. The adjoining factories were greatly damaged and five workmen in them were hijured. A house over a mile distint was made to oscillate by the shock. There is no possible way of ascertaining how the explosion occurred, as every man in the guncotton building is dead. It is thought, however, it was due to carelessness.

If our contemporary has the Providence urgal on its exchange list it cannot have examined its columns with much care for some time past. The Journal has even excelled the Argus in its champion ship of the Democratic party for the past few years, but this spring Rhode Island Democracy is more than it can stand and t therefore refueses to support the ticket in view of this fact the above paragraph s rendered rather ridiculous — If the right triumphs in Rhode Island to-day, as we believe it will, there will be no roosters in Reports indicate that the May anti-Hil. convention which is to be held in Syracuse will be perhaps the most interesting political gathering held in the State since the Rochester convention of 1897. There will be a full list of delegates and the at-tendance from all parts of the State will be very great. It is expected that ex-Mayor Grace will provide at the convention. It looks now as though the encollment of Democrats upon which this con-vention will be justified will reach at least 150,000 names, and the delegation elected at this convention to 60 Chicogo will take these rolls and our them to the Endonal Committee and the Mathematica as tentioning for the Mathematica as tentioning for their mineter.

The little State has been the scene of a vigorous campaign by both parties, able speakers on each side having addressed the people In 1888 Harrison had a plurality of 4,439, but in the succeeding elections the State has been close The extension of the suffrage to all foreign born citizens was the principal reason for this, and in 1891 there was no election of State officers by the people but the Republican candidates were elected by the Legisla ture A National sign-ficance attaches to the election this year from the fact that the Legislature will elect a successor to Senator Aldrich The Democrats concede the Legislature to the Republicans by a good majority, but claim that they will have a plurality for their nominees for State offices It requires a majority vote by the Democrats will simply be a repetitition of 1891, the Legislature electing the Republican ticket

The Odd Fellows of Patten gave a festival recently in that town, which was a most enjoyable affair. They had purchased a new piano at an expense of $250 and held the affair for the purpose of paying for the instrument. One feature lu which much interest was taken was the voting contest, tickets being sold for votes for the most popular young lady in town. There was a spirited rivalry and a total of 3,385 votes was polied. The result of the contest was as follows: Miss Hackett. 1,248; Miss Hersey, 1,101; Miss Barker, 249; Miss Finch, 787. A portion of his nose was bitten off by Succie, as was the end of one of his little flagers, and he was otherwise hurt. Yesterday he was getting along as well as could be expected, and will come out of the affair with only a distigurement, unless blood poisoning should occur. As we stated yesterday, upon being sent for, City Marshal Fickett, n company with others, went to the scene of the afair Monday evening, but could not find Succie, and he seems to have disappeared. Yesterday afternoon the Marshal aga a went to South Brewer in search of him, but his efforts were unavailing. He will probably be caught, however, and he severely dealt with.

Considerable excitement has been caused by the matter.

The Outcome. The disgraceful affair at South Brewer, Monday evening, which we refer to in another item this morning, has aroused our citizens to a feetlag that there is a necessity for action, and a petition to the City Council was being circulated yesterday asking that means might be taken for the suppression of the liquor traffic in the sity; and it received a very large number of signatures. The row of Monday evening was but one of many that have occurred in certain sections of South Brewer during the past few years, and they seem to be growing in seriousness of char-

Soon after the execution of John Brown, in ISSO, Rev. Hezeklah Atwood, originally of Livermore, was in Charleston, Va., and visited the jail where Rrown was confined while awaiting trial and execution, says the Lewiston Journal. While there he was shown the legirona which were placed upon Brown at the time of his capture and worn constantly by him until his execution. Upon asking the colored man and his wife who cared for the jail how they were able to identify the irons worn by Brown, the woman pointed to one set which had a shred of cloth tied into the lak, and told Mr. Atwood that she had torn that plece of cloth memend of carby shows and and many short risp.

As a business proposition, is unquestionable that no othe staple known to man has attained a mercial importance equal to that it

The cotton crop, therefore, may probe considered the most important agricultural interests of America.

Yet it is evident to a child that in ---respects its cultivation and gar. have been hitherto conducted on and diluvian methods that would scarce, have been tolerated fifty years ago in the growth and harvesting of any other us:

ural products.

The use of cotton is world-wide and universal, its manufacture has called into play the highest and most wonderful applications of human genius to mechanical appliances, yet unit, very recently it gather the raw product in the field. In other words, while generations of mechanics have exhausted the best efforts of brain and genius upon the development and improvement of the cotton-gin, the carding machine, the spinning jonny and the power loom, no one seems to have realized that of greater and far wider reaching importance than all those would be the creation of a machine by which the labor cost of gathering the ripened staple might be reduced to a minimum.

The fact that this enormous crop of world-wide use is today practically all picked by hand suggested to a far-sighted mechanic a field of operations for a mechanic a field of operations for a mechanical invention that will revolutionize the cotton-growing industry even more radically than did Whitney's discovery of the gin or Watt's successful application of the power of steam to the operation of the loom. In other words, there was born in this man's brainfan inappiration which has furnished the world with a mechanical contrivance of parallel nature and of greater imperfance than McCornick's kindred invention of the grain-reager.

The device to which has been given the simple but all-significant title of the Cotton Picker has supplied a waiting world with a meachine which will, with the precision of automatism and the unfagging ddilgence of mechanical persistence, gather every pound of cotton that can be grown upon this earn at a labor cost of less than 20 per cent of the expense of the present annoying, tedious, costly and not altogether certain method of hand-picking.

It is this machine, is construction, operation and recorded success that and partical products and the process that and provided were a product of the product obstymm of altogether certain method of hand-picking.

It is this machine, its construction, operation and recorded success, that we sak you to consider from a financial standpoint. The company controlling the patent on this machine are now offering a limited amount of stock for sale at their office, 31 Milk st. Intelligent minds must be impressed with its intrinsal value.
